

Twenty Something

Graham Colton

i am no magician i've got no crystal ball but i have made a few things disappear all my good intentions are they ever good enough?
am i only running circles while i'm here?

and i've tried
but trying doesn't always get me there and i'm fine
even when the way it's going isn't fair halfway between somewhere and nothing woke up and i'm twenty something i'm no acrobat but i've had my share of falls i've been walking wires, and climbing up the walls and i have kept my distance just close enough to feel but far enough away to know that what i know is real

and i've tried
but trying doesn't always get me there
and i'm fine
even when the way it's going isn't fair
halfway between somewhere and nothing
woke up and i'm twenty something

this is where it all begins i'm giving up on giving in now i'm not afraid of where i've been halfway between somewhere and nothing
woke up and i'm twenty something

and i've tried
but trying doesn't always get me there
and i'm fine
even when the way it's going isn't fair
halfway between somewhere and nothing
woke up and i'm twenty something

woke up and i'm twenty something