

Brave The Storm

Graham Coxon

There's a world where we can disappear, into our own little stratosphere
You see the stars up in heaven baby? They belong to me
You & me are gonna learn to fly, the little pathways across the sky
There's nothing here that can hold you baby, come along with me

The rain falls down, such a familiar sound
I'm on the ground, wet
Like the first time we met

Maybe now it's time to say goodbye, put your skirt on hitch it high There's a wind gonna take us, baby, close your eyes to see There's a world where we can start anew, set alight by sun & moon
The spirits cry in the rivers, baby, come along with me

The rain falls down, such a familiar sound
I'm on the ground, wet
Like the first time we met

Brave the storm (ok)

There's a sorrow in your eyes of green, a darker song I have never seen
I see the earth in your body baby, come along with me

The rain falls down, such a familiar sound
I'm on the ground, wet
Like the first time we met

Brave the storm
