

Another Grey Area

Graham Parker

You're always kidding me something's happening but it isn't true
You're getting rid of me you know exactly what I'm trying to
Oh baby I am drained of colour I can't go anywhere
You just left me in another grey area

You say you're loving me but it's nothing but a red rag
You call this ecstasy but suddenly it's let the stone drag
Oh baby I have just discovered I don't belong anywhere
Your love left me in another grey area
Another grey area

When I start thinking can't stop sinking
Everybody left me holding the baby
Everything's the same no-one took the blame
That's the colour of another grey area
That's the colour of another grey area

I can't follow it the information that is coming through
I never swallow it the black feeling that is all blue
Oh baby I've just discovered I can't go anywhere
Your love left me in another grey area
Yeah You left me in another grey area
That's the colour of another grey area
Another grey area

Another grey area
Another grey area
That's the colour
That's the colour
