

Nothing But A Song

Great Big Sea

A brother can be difficult
a blessing and a curse
but living life without one is something far worse.
Together in fraternity,
a sentence set for life,
laced with petty rivalries and ready for a fight.

Where nothing's ever left unsaid,
and the battle lines are drawn.
Promises are broken;
attack and get it done.
Weapons drawn and ready,
and who will fire first?
Hands, strong and steady,
hit exactly where it hurts.

You never leave a love so rare.
You never leave a love so long.
Remember that the life we share
is nothing but a song.

Oh, you put on a happy face for every body new,
but the closest to your heart
so rarely get the best of you.
A moment's contradiction
and the bickering's begun, daughters after mothers
and fathers on their sons.

But, you never leave a love so rare.
You never leave a love so long.
Remember how the life we share,
remember how the life we share
is nothing but a song.

Ahh Ahh Ahh Ahh
Ahh Ahh Ahh
Ahh Ahh Ahh Ahh
Ahh Ahh Ahh

You never leave a love so rare.
You never leave a love so long.
Remember that the life we share,
remember that the life we share,
remember that the life we share
is nothing but a song.

Ahh Ahh Ahh Ahh
Ahh Ahh Ahh
Ahh Ahh Ahh Ahh
