

Cornflower Blue

Great Lake Swimmers

Run through cornfields, the fire's lit
Coyotes are crying, nothing fits
I can which is a beautiful night to fall in love
Let's gather the wood and then burn it all down
Burn through the night

All of the minerals elements made
Dancing align a particular shade
Of cornflower blue
Oh how it suits you
Clear window through
But you look into the sky

Lies in ears of the fields all life
Its voices indoors like whispers arrive
Whisper all night
Bury the secrets, watch as they grow
Blooming an ecstatic fire work show
Bloom through the night

All of the minerals elements made
Dancing align a particular shade
Of cornflower blue
Oh how it suits you
Clear window through
But you look into the sky

All of the minerals elements made
Dancing align a particular shade
Of cornflower blue
Oh how it suits you
Clear window through
But you look into the sky

Cornflower blue
Oh how it suits you
Clear window through
But you look into the sky