

Think That You Might Be Wrong

Great Lake Swimmers

What time is it?
Would you tell me, wolf?
Are you coming around here
With your teeth so sharp

I never gave you the best part of me
I just let you in charge for a little while

Must of been
Must of been some great fury
That took you so far
Took you so far away

Think that you might be wrong

And look at you now
With your confidence
Riding around on a lion's back
Mistaken a shadow for a stranger's love
Well, you're larger than life when the lighting is right

Must of been
Must of been some great fury
That took you so far
Took you so far away

Hey, hey
Oh, think that you might be wrong