

No Better Than Hell

Great White

Closing your eyes to the truth that surrounds you
Won't make life easy to take
Filling your heart with the hate that inflames you
Just makes it burn out and break

Want someone to love you?
Want someone to care?
Want someone there by your side?
But you're building walls of plaster
Building walls of bone
Now there's nowhere left to hide

No better than hell, no, the way that you feel
No better than hell, no, the way that you are

Waiting all time for a soul to embrace you
Just makes you lonely and old
Turning your back on the lover who needs you
Turns the world slowly and cold

Want someone to love you?
Want someone to care?
Want someone there by your side?
But you're living off disaster
Living on your own
While everyone's taking their sides

No better than hell, no, the way that you feel
No better than hell, no, the way that you are

Want someone to love you?
Want someone to care?
Want someone there for a friend?
But you're burning all your bridges
Burning down your home
Burning the wax at both ends

No better than hell, no, the way that you feel
No better than hell, no, the way that you are
No better than hell, no, the way that you feel
No better than hell, no, the way that you are
No
