

Cry the forbidden word out loud leading my way up to purple clouds of dreams Then die
pile up and breathe sulphur as the world inside of you has turned to dust

Whisper in my dreams goes on Come on!

The scent of rainbow in the darkness the fatal mistake
the best of my skills
the flawless memory
of all the deeds that I hate myself for Oblivion's not at stake not in my case

I open my eyes
and no one's to blame
The fragile construction that I call my self Still I must kill all the feelings for you no more pain is left to distribute

She remains in the breeze
Flowing down the stream my body would explode

Her smile
memory of the warm lips reflection of her dark eyes burning in my mind
We strive
we believe in the others we restrain our own conscience only to be dead