

Waiting For A Sign

Green River Ordinance

Ride this wave of constant boredom
And all the while I wonder where you are Spending your nights of endless wonder
And all the while we're under the same sun

You were right and you were right all along
You were right and you were right all along
And if you fall
Don't let me know before you come undone
After all after all after all oh yeah

So how will I know that you're still here
I just want to see you and feel you again
We're falling asleep under the same sky
I'm waiting for a sign

Diving into conversation
Words never come like they once did
But maybe well it's plain to see
I'm different than I used to be
But who I was ain't who I'm gonna miss

You were right and you were right all along
You were right and you were right all along
And if you fall
Don't let me know before you come undone
After all after all after all oh yeah

So how will I know that you're still here
I just want to see you and feel you again
We're falling asleep under the same sky
I'm waiting for a sign (waiting for a sign)

I finally see exactly who you were this night
I finally see exactly who you were tonight
After all after all after all oh yeah

So how will I know that you're still here
I just want to see you and feel you again
We're falling asleep under the same sky
I'm waiting for a sign
I'm waiting for a sign
