

Drowning Man

Greenwheel

Hold me inside
This asylum speaks of home that's so far away
Through the window I see people scurry from the rain
Before the current there overcomes this certain faith that's swept away
Replacing trust
Now it's hardly in your grasp as the picture fades
It's not too late to reach your hand to spare a drowning man
And even if you decide a place to hide
Your shadow stays always at your side
Tonight you're harmless in the distance
Describing pain
Although this all seems small it's all I know
Still I run
And nothing is there and no one is left to blame
I can't help you now
You're none of my concern
You only fueled the fire
Now regret inside you burns
