Greg Graffin

Whispers of ancients buried by dust, Echoes of ages in canyons of rust, Is heaven so lonely? I'll know soon enough

Cold as the clay, dark as a mine, Wasting away blood, sweat, and grime Panning for gold, picking for dimes, lying in wait for better t imes

The tools of the trade lie shopworn and old The skills of the master done died with his soul And the worklike routine is so lonely and cold

Cold as the clay, dark as the mine, Wasting away, blood, sweat and grime, Panning for gold, picking for dimes, lying in wait for better t imes

The land was converted, the river was moved, The village expanded, some say it's improved, But the lingering feature is a grim attitude

Cold as the clay, dark as the mine, Wasting away, blood, sweat and grime, Panning for gold, picking for dimes, lying in wait for better t imes