

Heart Of Stone

Griffin House

Well, the heart only breaks so many times
So many times for it becomes wise enough to know
That time will heal and the will to walk never gets run down
When the thief inside finally figures
Finally figures out there's nothing he can steal

But never in my life have I ever felt so alone
Than when I offered you my hand
And your face told me something so wrong
But I keep asking everyone around
And all they got is, "I don't know"
So, how do you break a heart of stone?

And there's nothing in the way if you need to know
There's nothing but the worry in between us
And I could let it go, if you could show me how

And this pain is a gift and there's pain in the truth
Don't run away or be afraid
'Cause in the end there's nothing you can do
You're right on time

But never in my life have I ever felt so alone
Than when I offered you my hand
And your face told me something so wrong
But I keep asking everyone around
And all they go is, "I don't know"
So, how do you break a heart of stone?

And if I knew how, this could be over
If I knew how, this could be over
How do you break a heart of stone?
