Jane of the Waking Universe

Guided by Voices

Jane of the waking universe! A wrinkled rose snapped back And the flies on flowers spreading out To all sickness of humanity Listen to our queen as she is offering free samples Of her lovely garden spoils Jane of the waking universe And undulating always like the tide The devil's bride is calling all toward her skirt And in the loving folds there we will hide inside From any would be sneak attack Until it's safe to journey back Jane of waking universe
