

Of Mites and Men

Guided by Voices

My heart is not clean
Your table is green
To collect my things
The harvest of every man
Is in the can

In a single city, a strand in your hand
Where all your men live to study you
And eat you where you live
Get down