

Sometimes I Cry

Guided by Voices

Sometimes I cry because you don't love me no more
And sometimes I'm dyin' -- I'd be lyin' if I tried to ignore
The hurtin' inside that started when you walked away
And each night reminds me -- it's behind me, but I need you tod ay

Every moment speaks hovering silently in the air
The wind hammers like a drum
Every highway leads into a darker sea of despair Turn you back to where I come from

[Sometimes I cry because you don't love me no more
And sometimes I'm dyin' -- I'd be lyin' if I tried to ignore
The hurtin' inside that started when you walked away
And each night reminds me -- it's behind me, but I need you tod
ay
I need you today]

Everything she said twisting around and turning inside my head
More confused than yesterday
When I go to bed the trucks on the freeway sing me a song
This rock just ain't a safe place to hide under anymore

[Sometimes I cry because you don't love me no more
And sometimes I'm dyin' -- I'd be lyin' if I tried to ignore
The hurtin' inside that started when you walked away
And each night reminds me -- it's behind me, but I need you tod
ay
I need you today]
