

So let's play Catch up,
Does your memory need a back up?
Oh, please lay down, lay low,
Don't speak so slow.
Living all in the silence,
Silence living on you.
You go outside, outside, outside
Because there's nothing else to do.

Then you sit and you want the most
Of a loved heart, of hallway porch
There's no turning round
Try to take it back what you said,
But the empty words
Won't leave you empty here
And no one is gonna hear your wolf cry out.

So cry outside

Why do you think of the feathers of the perfect dove
She'll brake the looses, set the wings unlock

Red shoes, black eyes,
What a surprise!

What do you know
Space smashing at your toes
Like a crocodile with eyes closed
Said hey, get out, get out
You're not from this land.
Hey, a stone of hell is frozen
Sorry for this, but I'm a helpless man without you
Spelling out your name in a new way.

Whatever I have it's yours.
Oh, I give in, I play by my own rules of outside.

Bye bye, love,
I think it's gonna rain.
