

Hypocrite

Guttermouth

See you at church and I see you at school
Say that you live by the golden rule
But, look again, it's all a lie
You're a hypocrite, and I don't know why
You're a hypocrite and I don't know why
Your life's filled with distortions and lies

See you at a party, don't know what to say
When I catch you in a lie, you just turn your head away
But take a look around, you've got none to fool
Because none of us live by mother's golden rule

Take a look around, not a fucking sound
I stare at you
So what you gonna' do?
You live a life of lies
The truth to you is no surprise
You say it's on the way
Now you fucking pay.