You're A Love Song

If the world was mine, to give I'd hand it over On a silver platter, resting on my shoulder But all I have is what you see I'd give the universe If it was up to me When you walk into a room I am drawn, uncontrollably to you How the music starts to rise When I look into your eyes

You're a love song, just waiting to happen You're the music in me, everlasting You're every love song That ever was imagined to me If I compare you to anything You're the love song, I always wanted to sing

If these words sound kind of crazy That's the way I am I've been a wanderer, till I met you But then again They say love changes everything You took this broken heart And taught it how to sing

I know it's sentimental How my heart hits the floor When you look at me that way And the music starts to soar

You're a love song, just waiting to happen You're the music in me, everlasting You're every love song That ever was imagined to me (You're the sweetest melody, that sets me forever free)

You're the love song, I always wanted to sing
