There was a time when we never ever wondered cause things would always be the same years went by and we fought it a little longer and now we have ourselves to blame

I would always be there for you and I gave up my love

Straight up we'll never stop lovin we'll never do Straight up what have we become Straight up together we'll make it together forever Straight up what have we become

Try to be strong yes I tried to rode on but we have been damaged far too long still I remember how it felt to have you near but when I held you you said there was nothing left to feel

I would always be there for you I've tried to change and I wish you'd have done the same

On and on I've had this fantasy we felt so in love we had a house we had a family wont you stay stay
