

Leap of Faith

Hadouken!

The town he came from was typical England,
His mother loved him but she loved her new husband,
The teachers at school found him out a no-hoper,
Just another waste of teenage strength - a solider.

Quick Friday evening, he takes a sip from the bottle,
He's with his boys again they're up for trouble,
A pack of wolves always he better be hunting,
A local man made the mistake to confront them.

And as he sits there up alone in his room,
Cut on his knees blood on his hands through,
A heartless attack and he's so ashamed,
Covering his eyes of the poor man's gaze.

Forever it will stay.

Set this straight, it's not your cross,
Fix yourself up bruv, and step off the warpath.

Your life is never preordained,
No two lives need ever be the same.
Go, Take a leap of faith.
You can turn and fight, need to jump this life,
You could escape free now from these confines.

Go, Three years ago she had a baby at fifteen.
The next minute was a repeat of history,
One bedroom council flat, the father beats her,
but it's the dark past. he disappeared.

Six months later and he's back on the scene,
He's lost his job and needs her to feast,
Still got that glint in his eye, still got that vicious right hand,

Now is the time to make her stand.
Making her stand.
Don't jump I know this time is the past,
Fix yourself up, jump up onto the life raft.

Your life is never preordained,
No two lives need ever be the same.
Go Take a leap of faith,
Take a leap of faith, take a leap of faith.

Go, take a leap of faith.

Your conscience jilted your options fading,
You have no allies on your team,
Search for these fragments of esteem.

GO! Don't jump I know this time is the past,
Fix yourself up grab on onto the liferaft.

GOGO! Set this straight, it's not your cross,
Fix yourself up bruv and step off the warpath.

You can turn and fight, you can jump this life,
You can escape free now from these confines.

Your life is never preordained,
No two lives need ever be the same.

Go, Take a leap of faith.

Your conscience jilted your options fading,
You have no allies on your team,
Search for these fragments of esteem.

Take a leap of faith,
Take a leap of faith,
Take a leap of faith.