

Interesting

Halestorm

Isn't it interesting the way people think today
How come we're always searching for a better day
This world is a shallow hole in the sand
When the tide comes in we're real and there's no love in our hand

Isn't it interesting how we're all different people (different people)
Isn't it strange how we can do what we thought we can
And why is it that all the other people (other people)
Think their time on earth is an accident

Oh yeah isn't it interesting

How come we never want to face the truth
Face end of the darkness of an empty road
Inspired by the lies we make of how this world began
When the truth stands and we realize it's no longer in our hand

Isn't it interesting how we're all different people (different people)
Isn't it strange how we can do what we thought we can
And why is it that all the other people (other people)
Think their time on earth is an accident

Oh yeah isn't it interesting

Hidden by the lies just open your eyes
Just come on and face the truth
You know he is the light, it shines through the night

Isn't it interesting how we're all different people
Isn't it strange how we can do what we thought we can
And why is it that all the other people
Think their time on earth is an accident

Oh yeah isn't it interesting

Oh yeah isn't it interesting