

Now That You're Here

Haley Reinhart

The purest eyes and the strongest hands I love the ground, baby , where you stand and my will to fight it all disappears well, now that you're here you're everything I've been thirsty for you're everything that I can't afford Can't leave you now I'd be trembling, counting every tear well, now that you're here Ohh, now that you're here

Feels like this chemistry might be the end of me if love is my enemy, don't set me free now that you're here, there's no one else for me energy, like where it's taking me if love is my enemy, don't set me free
now that you're here, there's no one else for me

I never thought I'd feel so divine you're like poetry, desire justified, you're a legend now that'll never die,
well, now that you're here

Almost torture now, this insanity as you captivate every inch of me you're taking me so far away when you're pulling me near,
well, now that you're here
Ohh, now that you're here

Baby, don't leave me alone, just let me feel this over and over Pull me in closer and closer 'cause baby now that you're here

Stuck on your energy, like where it's taking me
If love is my enemy don't set me free
now that you're here
there's no one else for me
now that you're here
