Stained Class

Halford

Wild eyed and tight fisted I'm fused to the bone I stand contemplating Reacting alone

Impaled with betrayal
The tourniquet turns
Society's creation
Pole axed out and burnt

Long ago when man was king His heart was clean Now he's stained glass

Time has slashed Each untouched thing So now he's just A stained glass king

Transfixed at deliverance Is this all there is? Faithless continuum Into the Abyss

Fierce is my conviction Absolute my belief I spit at you apathy And seducer deceit

Long ago when man was king His heart was clean Now he's stained glass

Time has slashed Each untouched thing So now he's just A stained glass king

Lethal, deadly, hung, drawn And quartered he slaughtered and faltered And altered the world

But by doing so smashed All his hopes and Utopian dreams Whipping, stripping peeling the flesh off Relentless and senseless

His lust snapped like vipers Whose fangs sank in deep To infest and decay from the core

Impaled with betrayal
The tourniquet turns
Society's creation
Pole axed out and burnt

Long ago when man was king

His heart was clean Now he's stained glass

Time has slashed Each untouched thing So now he's just A stained glass king

Stained glass king
