Sometimes a Mind Changes

Hall & Oates

He heard a voice call his name Pulling hard and telling him to make some change He let a lot pass him by Sacrificed his sacred fire to buy some time

To let it go sounds easy What used to be a certainty Is shifting with the sands of time Sometimes a mind changes Then another heart's got to fly away

She had a dream of family Two by thirty Living in love in tenderness She let a lot pass her by Sacrificed her sacred fire to buy some time

Letting go sounds easy What used to be a certainty Ain't true Sometimes a mind changes Then another heart's got to fly away
