

It's been a long way but now we are near the midst of the fiery rain

We know the Thunder have summoned us all to the place where innocence got slain
The final warning, the very last command Behold the omens, the rivers run red
The autumn winds carry the dead

Shattered remains for the damned
We won't surrender
No never, we will carry on

From the Lake of Fire they have come Fierce almighty legions, one by one
When the Flames of Glory touch the sky
Trailblazers do or die creating our own destiny

We are the mighty, who soar through the air, Warriors once and Warriors to be

Forever our spirits fly free
We rode on lightning we shone like the sun
We fought them hard we fought them so brave, in a thunderous symphony sending them back to their grave

The Hammer has fallen
The fire still burns in our hearts

Trailblazers do or die
From the Lake of Fire they have come
Fierce almighty legions, one by one
When the Flames of Glory touch the sky

The visions we gazed upon,
On the uncaring slopes as the nightmare returned the mark of the shadows still burns
