

You're Just a Memory (Jsi mrtvá sezóna)

Hana Zagorová

Here in the silence
Here in my loneliness
When stars, just like precious gems
Begin to glitter pride
And feel the sky
With bare white
Chilly light
I know I'll never again awake to love and happiness
Though you're a memory
Belong for your caress

You're just a memory
A gone love's refrain
You got me and you died and made me surrender
Two glasses of Champagne
Daffodils wet with rain
Walks in the pain moon light
Don't you remember?

You're just a memory
Hunting me...

A shadow, that's always there, every moment
Red and gold are the leaves
Candle ..., Christmas trees
The things we both loved so
Gone without warning

When love is dieing, all alone
And seeks a place to hide
And in the silence of the night
My tears are falling fast
I know I'm lost in love of mine
And what is passed, is passed
I know, you never lied
Not even just to say
My ... broken pride

You're just a memory
A gone love's refrain
You got me and you died and made me surrender

Two glasses of Champagne
Daffodils wet with rain
Walks in the pain moon light
Don't you remember?

You're just a memory
Hunting me...
A shadow, that's always there, every moment
Red and gold are the leaves
Candle ..., Christmas trees
The things we both loved so
Gone without warning

Where does love go when it's dieing
Is it lying in dead, gold white snow?
