

Fade Away

Handguns

If you have a minute,
Just sit down, and listen,
I'm not trying to put you in your place.
It's just lately I've been thinking about,
Things I might do different,
If I could calculate time, and space.

When I start to reminisce,
All my signals just get mixed.
And I,
I break down, and I cry.
(I break down!)

I can't stand your logical,
or your twisted point of view.
I'm so stoked that being jaded
worked out so well for you.
Fade away,
Fall apart.

Friendships fade away,
And things just fall apart.
But these are the moments that set fires to my heart.
When I say,
Friendships fade away,
And things just fall apart.
But these are the moments,
That make us who we are.

Was it the loss of my innocence,
Or the changing of the tides,
Or the lessons I have learned,
From the mountains I have climbed?
Fighting all my battles,
Learning from these two black eyes.
Waging all your wars,
And I'm still sinking by your side.

Friendships fade away,
And things just fall apart.
But these are the moments that set fires to my heart.
When I say,
Friendships fade away,
And things just fall apart.
But these are the moments,
That make us who we are.

Live it up!

Fade away, fall apart.

Friendships fade away,
And things just fall apart.
But these are the moments that set fires to my heart.
When I say,
Friendships fade away,
And things just fall apart.
But these are the moments,

That make us who we are.
