

Conscience I'm Guilty

Hank Snow

Oh conscience I'm guilty I'm guilty again
Now I'm driving home slowly my spirit's so low
I cheated on her again and why I'll never know
I hope I don't look too guilty when she lets me in
Oh conscience don't ever let me do that again
Oh conscience I'm guilty and I must confess
Why I kissed her I knew I love the other one best
I've been out with an old flame who's heart's full of sin
Oh conscience don't ever let me do that again
Between right and the wrong the love and desire
This game that I'm playing more dangers than fire
I might talk in my sleep or be caught by her friend
Oh conscience don't ever let me do that again
Oh conscience I'm guilty