When Jimmie Rodgers Said Goodbye

Hank Snow

There's an old guitar that's lonely Since the master's gone away But he's singing to the angels Way up in Heaven today

He left a blue song for the brakeman And to the kiddies a lullaby To all sweethearts he left a lovesong When Jimmie Rogers said goodbye

He left a yodel for the cowboy They sing it now with tear dimmed eye And he left every prairie lonely When Jimmie Rogers said goodbye

They miss him down in Alabama Across the world you can hear them say Mississippi lost their blue yodeler When Jimmie Rogers said goodbye

Although the freight trains keep on running He caught a fast one on the fly But he left his guitar behind him When Jimmie Rogers said goodbye