

Someone Can Steal Your Love From Me

Hank Thompson

If I can steal your love from someone else
Someone can steal you from me
If you can't be true to the one you have
You wouldn't be true to me

A wedding ring can't mean a thing
To a heart that's so carefree
If I can steal you from someone else
Someone can steal you from me

If I can steal your lips from someone else
Someone can steal them from me
You slipped around on him before
You ever started going with me

There is no pride when we must hide
And love in secrecy
If I can steal you from someone else
Someone can steal you from me

If I can steal your heart from someone else
Someone can steal it from me
The heart you want to give away
Belongs to another, you see

I'd have your smile for just a while
'Till you grew tired of me
If I can steal you from someone else
Someone can steal you from me
