

Before You Fell Out of Love With Me

Hank Williams Jr.

Where is the love that we once knew
There were no hang-ups between me and you
Where are the words we use to speak
Before you fell out of love with me

Where's the good loving you use to give
Alone is a bad bad way to live
Arms so soft, lips so sweet
Before you fell out of love with me

Where are the walks we use to take
Where are the plans we use to make
Where are the dreams we use to dream
Before you fell out of love with me

Where are the laughs use to have
Why did the good times turn into the bad
Where are the mornings we use to see
Before you fell out of love with me

Where are the nights we'd stay awake
Where is the love we use to make
Where's your body so eager and free
Before you fell out of love with me

I was just thininking how life use to be
Before you fell out of love with me
