

Here And Hereafter

Happy Rhodes

Not even the stars can say how I would feel if you were taken away

I couldn't possibly imagine the pain of knowing that I'll never hear you laugh again

I want to go wherever you go because all the colors are brighter there and there is more magic in the air wherever you go, here and hereafter

There isn't a psychic anywhere who can predict how my heart would fare

If I woke up and you were forever gone
It would be so much deeper than writing this song

I want to go
I want to go wherever you go because the sun feels a little warmer there You make me feel so happy I swear
wherever you go here and hereafter

You know they say the harder you love the harder you fall
Well baby, this love will definitely kill me

I want to go
I want to go wherever you go because Every moment that I spend with you could be the last and so I'll follow you wherever you go here and everafter

I want to be wherever you're gonna be wherever you go here and hereafter