

One Of The Wounded

Harem Scarem

I was lost in the heat of the moment
There I was in your eyes
Looking out at the love your wretched heart put out
Between the two of us
I think that we could have seen the world in a night
The passion here
Ran faster than I could get away to hide
Now I'm down on my knees
I just want you to see
I'm all that you need
One of the wounded
Well tonight I will see
If this love could come so easily
I would wait through my life
To see if this would work out right
You know that some of the times we had were good
And the bad just fade out of sight
And all the memories inside me now
I will always have to fight
