Prevail

Harmony

We will abandon what we have done and the remains of our sin And we will seek to find our home in these wasted lands
This time we reach for solace high into the night
In silence we all pray to find strength to break the bonds

In the presence of our enemies We will prevail Through darkness and tribulation We still remain

Don't preach to us your made up doctrine's of disorder and decr

They used to bring us to our knees
But now they make us see
This time we reach for solace high into the night
In silence we all pray to find strength to break the bonds

In the presence of our enemies We will prevail Through darkness and tribulation We still remain

I wish you could see me now Causing a wind fire You will never betray me again

We will abandon what we have done and the remains of our sin And we will seek to find our home in these wasted lands
This time we reach for solace high into the night
In silence we all pray to find strength to break the bonds

In the presence of our enemies We will prevail Through darkness and tribulation We still remain