Song for the Hopeful

Harry Connick, Jr.

People with hope Have a special prayer, A louder drum, A brighter flare. This is a song for the hopeful. May God hear it sung.

People with faith Are the lucky kind. They'll be the ones With peace of mind. This is a song for the faithful. May God hear it sung.

There's a song for the doubtful. There's a song for the lost. There's a song for the desert Barren, but crossed. But for those who are strong of spirit, Maybe they don't need to hear it. But still, a song for them. A simple song for them.

Nothing can shade A seasoned soul. It's all the loss That makes it whole. This is a song for the hopeful. This is a song for the faithful. This is a song for the hopeful. May God hear it sung. May God hear it sung.
