Ambush

Harry Nilsson

The lamp that lights the way Is a light from yesterday The drum which leads the way Is a sound from yesterday

The road is filled with shadows Of a million, living leaves Darkness all around us And not a friend in sight

We sang a song together To help us through the night The song was sung with spirit But soft and like a choir

And as the others sang along Our voices lifted higher We sang until' we reached the bridge We crossed, then saw the wire

But by the time we stopped the song The enemy had opened fire

Now, we ain't gonna sing that song no more Ain't gonna sing that song no more Just don't pay to sing no more Especially when you're in a war, a war

Now, this time through We want everybody To listen to the punchline All right, all right, all right

The song was sung with spirit But soft and like a choir But by the time, we stopped the song The enemy had opened fire

Now, we ain't gonna sing that song no more Ain't gonna sing that song no more Just don't pay to sing no more Especially when you're in a war, oh
