

Wake Up the Sun

Haste the Day

They came with different names
But bore the mark of the old
They came with different names
And bore the mark of the old
We've tried to run but it's no use
And all this time, we've reached the point of desperation
In these iron walls we hide
But we leave the gates wide open

For now!
We are here and we are one
And hearts are empty
For now!
For the waking of the sun
Is not that easy
For now!
We are here are one

I will never be the same
And I'll burn with a heart of fire
It's never going to be the same
And I see their faces
They came with different names
And bore the mark of the old
And from their lips came the same strain
That's waking up, that's waking up the sun

For now!
We are here and we are one
And hearts are empty
For now!
For the waking of the sun
Is not that easy
For now!
We are here and we are one!

They came with different names
But bore the mark of the old

We are waking up the sun
Waking up the sun

For now!
We are here and we are one
And hearts are empty
For now!
For the waking of the sun
Is not that easy
For now!
We are here are one
For now!
We are here are one
We are waking up the sun.
