Immortal Enemies

Hatebreed

When the conflict never ceases And the enemies are immortal Only their names and faces change So a stance must always be held

Claw at my pride your facade tears away Another day dies, I'm looking, I'm lasting Attempt to break my stride, fall deeper, tread faster Another cry ignored, the most desolation

If the conflict must last forever So much our struggle for justice In a state of faith denied Is it any wonder where the answers lie?

Enemies never die Conflict is unending Chaos never ceases Where does the solution lie?

Claw at my pride your facade tears away Another day dies, I'm looking, I'm lasting Attempt to break my stride, fall deeper, tread faster Another cry ignored, the most desolation If the conflict must last forever So much our struggle for justice In a state of faith denied Is it any wonder where the answers lie

Enemies never die Conflict is unending Chaos never ceases Where does the solution lie?

When the conflict never ceases And the enemies are immortal Only their names and faces change So a stance must always be held

Enemies never die Conflict is unending Chaos never ceases Where does the solution lie? x2