Voice of Contention

Hatebreed

If they said they knew the truth They lied

No one said my faith wouldn't be questioned Been driven to the brink Because the truth is too hard to accept When you face your mortal enemy

Who ever said I needed you, lied Who ever said you knew the truth, lied Who ever thought they knew my faith, lied And if they think they know now, they fucking lied They lied

Where are all your answers now That you've been called out? I kneel down and mourn for what we had I can't be there for you now

Hear my voice of contention It's sad you made me this way Hear my voice of contention It's so hard to see this end

Who ever said I needed you, lied Who ever said you knew the truth, lied Who ever thought they knew my faith, lied And if they think they know now, they fucking lied

You think you know the truth You lie

Where are all your answers now That you've been called out? I kneel down and mourn for what we had I can't be there for you now
