

No Sense

Hatesphere

I want to hear deafness I want to see blindness I want to feel alive yesterday I ran like the wind and seemed to be ahead of everything today I stopped for a while in the midst of my own eternity I need a question to find the answer

I've always walked with you for a second, walk with me don't seek eternity why am I damned to freedom, when I'm better off enslaved?

I would laugh and I would smile come on and chain me for a while you should tear off my ears you should stab out my eyes you should lock me in a chamber so I could feel alive

I've been swimming in this lake now I am drowning today the water froze to ice although the sun was shining now I can hear nothing now I can see nothing now I can feel everything