

High speed progress
step by step into a trap moment insignificant
no way to penetrate the spotlight surface so stay outside close to your private light short-term memory
permanently generating
plastic destiny
trying so hard to turn aside all the stress from oneself intelligence frustrates
the polished face
a fading race
fed with facts
to regenerate the lost inborn abilities we keep on training that difficult breathing
a forced, perfect state protects us from rain

Easiest moving towards some difficulties fearless changing skins renew to the beginning again and again a generation exists just one day

Short story
mirrors break
asleep in a crack
man-made aid
to alleviate
a man-made pain