

Weak At The Knees

Have Mercy

I called you up, just where have you been
I'm just waiting for our lives to begin
Cause no one wants you the way that I want you
When no one wants you can you say you want me too?

Why won't she go home?
I have you on the other telephone?
Cause no one, no one can do the things you do
And say the three words that I just want you to Cause I need you

Yeah I need you

We laughed in the sun, we laid in the grass
And I felt your earth pushing back, it pushed back
What you don't know, don't know
Is you're gone and I'm home, but I'm all alone
For every body who knows what comes after

We laughed in the sun, we laid in the grass
I felt your earth pushing back, pushing back
What you don't know, don't know
Is you're gone and I'm home, but I'm all alone
For everybody who sung from the rafters

I want you weak at the knees...
