

Scabs of Trust

Havok

A drowning man will always try to bring you down with him
In a sea of treachery you surely cannot swim
Not a leg to stand on, he's got deception inside of him
Picking at the scabs of trust: it will never heal

You are trapped in your web of lies
Can't break free
Eternal despise

Cut your own throat and bleed on me watch the others run
There's no saving a man that sets himself up to be burned
No turning back now, you are already gone
Let us watch your body, as it crumbles into dust

I'm so sorry for laughing at you when I saw you hit the ground
Always knew I'd be the one on top, looking down
There are so many things you just could not wrap your mind around
Take a look at yourself...you'd see who's the fool
