

Nothing In This World Will Ever Break My Heart Again

Hayden Panettiere

I finally kept my pride and hailed a cab
Those cuttin' words you said were the last stab
There'll be no tears this time, they've all dried up
No more sweet poison, I already drank that cup

This tunnel's dark, but there's a little light glowing Just enough for me to run towards knowing

Nothing in this world will ever break my heart again
Nothing in this world will ever break my heart again
No pain this life will put me through will ever ever hurt like
you

Don't need a miracle, a superhero
There's only one way up when you're at zero
You took my innocence, but it was knowing
No I don't need you, and that made me a woman

I paid my dues, but it's a debt I'm done paying I'm standing strong, but I'm still on my knees praying

That nothing in this world will ever break my heart again
Nothing in this world will ever break my heart again
No pain this life will put me through will ever ever hurt like
you

Nothing in this world will ever break my heart again
Nothing in this world will ever break my heart again
Nothing in this world will ever break my heart again
Nothing in this world will ever break my heart again
No pain this life will put me through will ever ever hurt like
you

Nothing in this world will ever break my heart again
Nothing in this world will ever break my heart again
Nothing in this world will ever break my heart again
Nothing in this world will ever break my heart again
