The Peace Song

Hayley Westenra

If I could change anything Then love would heal everything.

Though I may be just one voice, I pray That peace inherits the world And joy and hope are unfurled Though I may be young I see If only we had faith in love We could be free, we could be free.

Though I see through one child's eyes I look beyond the world's disguise Though I may be young I see If only we had faith in love