

Dixie Wolf (The Seduction Of...)

He Is Legend

I thought you knew me but it seems you never did
I tried to find you in the castle where you hid
I took the pictures that you ruined from my wall
No one remembered me I was right after all

I am the villain to you
You are the princess to me
I got you where I want you
let love bring you to your knees
If I can not have you, darling, no one will
This fairy tale is ending, this fairy tale is ending

REST IN PIECES

I am the hero to you
You are the villain to me
I jumped a building or two
To write this love story

I was the prince that every dame was looking for
But you gave your love to every jester at your door
Well I always knew that you would end up stepping out
But thats what this cannon aimed at you is all about

I am the villain to you
You are the princess to me
let love bring you to your knees
If I can not have you, darling, no one will
This fairy tale is ending, this fairy tale is ending

I am the hero to you
you are the villain to me
I jumped a building or two
to write this love story

Well I cant wash it off
I cant rinse it out
I can smell you on my clothes
And I can taste you in my mouth
I cant shake it off
And I can get it out
You are everywhere I look
And you are all I dream about
I never wanted to end like this
