

I'm Coming Home

Heart in Hand

Every night we get to do, what we love
Still counting down the days 'til, I get to see you again
I know you will be waiting

I, have never been so far away from home Another sleepless night again, will keep us on our feet we know this road will take us, where we want to go but I'm not sure If I can, make it through, without you

My body aches, I need some time alone My body aches, I just need some time alone just for a while, Just for a while

And I'm sick and tired of the fighting why can't we all just get along ?

Once, again we seem to head off in our own directions, without you but something's never change, never change you are always on my mind, I miss you
But I'm coming home
I'm coming home

Every night we get to do, what we love
Still counting down the days 'til, I get to see you again
I know you will be waiting
I know you will be waiting

But I'm coming home

We must keep pushing forward, but I could sleep forever,
I could sleep forever
