

Illusion

Heathen Foray

The winds are chasing me on and on
But I am still alive
It's burning me from the inside out
I won't fall right now
I thought that I could forget
But that was just illusion

I will never forget
The time we shared
I am carrying on
From now on your image strengthens me
The clouds are drifting away

What are my options now to live despite this past with you Head up high
looking back with pride
I won't regret anymore

Asked myself about you
Hundred times
But what am I in your life?
Am I present, do I attend
In your dreams, in your world?
Do I take part?
I don't want to be illusion

The sun is coming out again
I won't sit in darkness anymore
Removing all these chains
I'm disengaged from this illusion
From the past
So I could be free again!