

Death an' terror is rulin' the land peace is so hard to find screams of pain bursting loud in the night this madness is burning our mind

War is eating us down to the bone we're lying here dying alone no point of view, a thorn in my eyes World's face is turning to stone

What is the sense of this dreadful game, can you say people who're paying the price are always the same Time will see, what you 've done to me are you too blind to see
