

The bits are cruising like a warrior in time
They're beating your defending senses
A mind is drifting through all the seas of Rhye

Your eyes connected to imaginary signs
Your eyes protected by electric fences all the time

Invader technology, crusader we call it